able object of investing some of their spare capital our growing industries. No definite arrangements have been entered into with any of our merchants by them as yet, but rumor has it that on their return from the pleasure trip that they have taken to windward, they will se prepared to lay some of their plans before our business men for consideration. That these gentlemen are in a position to assist us there is no doubt, nor is it doubtful but that we are willing to be assisted, and as they were advocates in favor of the Reciprocity Treaty, their ideas of the benefits which the United States receives from us will undoubtedly be to our advantage when they glean the fact that shortly before their arrival the American vessel Morro Castle arrived here with a full cargo of machinery, &c., and the only expense attendant was her entry in the Cuatom House, which amounted to about five dollars, the price of the Government stamps, the cargo being free by treaty, while the Balla Rookh an English ressel, with a like cargo of machinery paid a duty of nearly $12,000. This is but a straw yet it shows the way the wind blows.

Buisness generally has not been brisk during the past seek, the only arrival of note being the Gov. Goodwin. week, the only arrival of note being the Gov. Goodwin, from Glasgow, with a cargo of sugar machinery, &c., valued at nearly $200,000; and consigned to G. W. Macfarlans & Co. This consignment and the cargo of the Caroline Medau bring our importations for the week up to the very respectable sum of $205,000.

The exports have not been very large, therefore the amount is small in comparison with our imports, and it would be far better for our interests if we could reduce our importations until the figures become nearer alike.

Of sugar we have exported during the last week, 1,688, 765 lbs. (544 2-5 T.) valued at $0.7,144,74 and of rice 193,000 lbs (96 1-10 T.) valued at $9.915 the total valuation, of rice and sugar exported, being $77,009,44.

ALONG THE WHARVES.

The Am bk H W Almy, is at the Old Custom House wharf, loading for San Francisco, and if sugar comes in, as soon as expected, she will sail about the middle of The Haw bk Kalakaus, has docked at Brewer & Co's wharf, and is taking in sugar, as it comes along, and may sall about Saturday next for San Francisco. At the Old Steamship wharf, the fine Am Clipper ship Gov Goodwin, is discharging machinery &c., she has made the remarkable quick trip of 108 days from Glasgow, thus beating the Brit ship Havensoraig, now 153 days out, from Liverpool, via Madeira 123 days, and the Brit bk Hosmy Petrel, 135 days out from Glasgow, the Gov Goodwin is a fine model, and a fine sailer, as she has proved herself on this trip.

The Am by Jenny Pitts, is discharging lumber, at the Esplanade foot of Fort st, she will sail some time next week for Port Gamble. The Am tern Hers, is in the stream, she is up for San Francisco, and will sail, when she gets a cargo, which will probably be pretty soon, if not sooner.

It is about an even thing, as to which vessel will bring our next mail of either the Discovery or the D C Murray, both of which may be looked for from Sept 1 to 5. PORT OF HONOLULU, H. I.

THE PACIFIC Commercial Adbertiser.

SATURDAY, AUGUST 23. PURSUANT to the first part of the programme which had been arranged to enable our distinguished visitors from the Coast to pass a season of enjoyment while among us, the steamer Likelike, at 4 o'clock P. M. on last Tuesday, left her wharf having on board, in company with His Ex. the Minister of the Interior, Hon. W. M. Gwinn and daughter, Hon. W. Money and wife, Hon. F. P. Low, Hon. F. McCoppin and Mr. J. D. Spreckels. The points of interest on their route will be many, and the incidents numerous, and as a representative of the Apvertises accompanles them we will be enabled to give a full and interesting account of the trip, when they return.

Lance, that much coveted desideratum, seems to have held its own in price notwithstanding the continued influx of an element whose presence in pense. So far, however, very little change in the Crewes, W rate of wages has taken place, and our planters Cavanagh, w A 2 pay nearly as much now for help as when labor was really scarce. The gaze of our most sensible planters is turned toward the direction from which De La Nux, P. A. the South Sea Islanders are expected, and hope mounts high when their thoughts revert to the successful issue of the expedition. The importa-Goodnow, C W 2 tion of South Sea lelanders into this Kingdom for laboring purposes, should be the object in view, not only by Government, but our planters and Holland, Wm Holmes, Walter H 2 business men should also cogitate deeply upon Hartford, Robert the benefits that will accrue from the introduction of this cognate race. Have Polynesians for laborers and the circulating medium remains in the country, continue the Chinese and the coin disappears from view here, only to reappear in another land some thousand miles away. Engage the Polynesian, and the Hawaiian race are benefitted, the Polynesian bringing his wife and children with him and assisting in repopulating and retaining the identity of the aboriginees of these islands, instead of, as in the case of an antagonistie race, decimating and ultimate subversion. It is an easy matter if properly controlled and managed to obtain all the labor required from our manding fine views of the surrounding neighbor islands of the Southern Seas. The sea. Address A. B. SS box Post Office. Queensland and Fiji planters have formed them-selves into an association, and delegated a portion of their number to attend to the business of introducing Polynesians in their sections, and by means of this unison of action we find, from reports received, that they have been very successful in obtaining supplies, and that the planters are better satisfied with the Polynesians as laborers than with either the Chinese or East Indian; the objection to the Chinese being their vices, and to the East Indian their liability to sickness, while the Polynesian is devoid of both of these unnecessary attributes, he is assimilative, a necessary requisite to us for our own, and also the benefit of poor suffering Hawaii. Therefore, benefit of poor suffering Hawaii. Therefore, wake up! Merchants, planters, business men. Do not sit down, supinely, with hands crossed and eyes turned toward a far off state, thinking and eyes turned toward a far off state, thinking and eyes turned toward a far off state, thinking a limit of how much assistance might be obtained from the state of the state o and to the East Indian their liability to sickness, of how much assistance might be obtained from there, but rather rouse yourselves to the necessity of immediate home action. You require labor, cheap labor, and labor which should benefit you, by benefitting the country at large. Polynesia has this labor, but it cannot be obtained by the

INFLATION.

In times of money scarcity, caused, it may be, by either commercial disaster or new enterprises, there are many who immediately jump to the conclusion that relief lies in an enactment of the legislature by which the issue of a certain amount of paper money is legalised. This short cut to prosperity has been so often tried, and with such melancholy results, that it may be expected that economist of the inflationist class will gradually become extinct; but that time has not come yet, and judging from the signs of the times will not come for several years. The Hawaiian Islands are unfortunately afflicted with a debased coin currency, which has had its logical injurious effect. This currency consists of the silver fige-franc piece, used from early times for a dollar, the American silver half-dollar which was in 1872 made legal tender for all payment without limits, and in 1876 was made with other American silver coins legal tender for payments of fifty dollars, and a small percentage of large payments, Mexican silver dollars and English sovereigns, gold, made by the Privy Council equivalent to five dollars. These make up the bulk of our staying currency, and are all considerably below our legal standard, which is the American gold dollar. Of course with such a currency made legal for the greater part of the money transactions of the community, there is no way of keeping American gold in the country. To do this it must be made the only legal tender for all payments over a very small amount-say five dollars. Still this depreciated currency answers our purpose tolerably well; its value is intrinsic to a large extent,-that is to say, though a sovereign is not worth five dollars, its legal rate, yet it is worth four dollars and about eighty-six cents, and this corresponds pretty nearly to the intrinsic as compared to the legal value of five franc pieces, Mexican and American dollars and half dollars, and this gives our working currency a decent consistency and steadiness.

The profit of sugar culture under the reciprocity treaty have stimulated enterprise in that field to an extent beyond the capacity of our available capital. In this dilamma, the Hawaiian Gazette proposes that our capital be augmented by the creation of a paper currency. The writer in that paper does not state any place for its issue, security and redemption of the proposed currency, but quotes the dangerous experiment made by the United States as a last resort in a desperate emergency, and which has for seventeen years been a disturbing influence in values in that country. Nor does the writer appear to recognise the difference between the American greenbacks and the national bank notes, nor make any suggestion as to the character of the proposed currency, whether it should be a government note or something in the nature of an American bank note.

The currency of the United States was estimated about a year ago by Dr. Linderman, late director of the mint, to be $1,043,600,000, of which only $358,000,000, or about 34 per cent, was gold and silver coin. The circulation of Great Britain was estimated last year by Mr. Ernest Seyd to be $831,500,000, of which $615, 000,000, or 74 per cent. were gold and silver coin and bullion. In France with a circulating medium of $1,742,000,000, 74 per cent, is metalic and 26 per cent paper, as in England. Moreover the Bank of England holds a reserve of $113, 000,000 against a note issue of $157,500,000, $44,500,000 unprotected, while the Bank of France holds $416,000,000 against an issue of $442,000,000, leaving only $26,000,000

It would seem that if we are to imitate the financial system of other nations, we had better select those of France or England, in which the security of the paper money is practically per-fect, and the perturbations of value reduced to a minimum. But still there are perturbations, and is it worth while for us to encounter unknown rieks for the sake of numerically increasing our capital? Our government is not a borrower at present, and has no need of credit. The issuances of an authorsed credit paper by a bank would tend both to further depreciate the body of our currency and to introduce perturbations in value which would be disastrous to all usiness enterprises. The depreciation of such paper would drive away all coin, except small change, even our poor sovereigns, five france pieces and Mexican sun-dollars would have to go. The introduction of such legislation would be extremely dangerous in this country. The legislature could not be relied on for the necessary finnancial intelligence to safely inaugurate and carry on a slippery and complex financial system of this character, and we should be exposed to the ultimate fate of similar experiments in San Domingo, where government requirements were promptly supplied by an enactment creating a new lot of money out of paper and ink, and the currency became as common as the leaves on the trees and worth as much.

Hawaiian silver certificates are popular and convenient as money, and do not require to be made a legal tender because they pass readily upon their representative value. Of course they do not satisfy those minds that agonise to see one dollar by some dexterity made to perform the work of two. But the coin reserve that keeps the silver certificates at par is not idle nor a tax upon public profits, it is on the contrary a kind of insurance fund that secures the acquisition of profits. The loss of interest on these reserves is insignificant when compared with the disasters caused by fluctuations of a credit currency.

We are unable to see any relief in the somewhat vague propositions of the writer in the Gazette, but rather danger to all kinds of business enterprise, and also workmen and those of small means. If the present is a critical time, that is the greater reason for not tampering with our currency.
